Leadership
IN ETHNICALLY DIVERSE COMMUNITIES
Leadership in Ethnically Diverse Communities

Leadership in Ethnically Diverse Communities (LEDC) is a program designed to increase the capacity of rural leaders to develop and sustain healthy inclusive communities and reduce systemic racial and cultural barriers.

Who is the program for?
LEDC is designed for people committed to building inclusive relationships across the many dimensions of their community and developing leadership capacity to support systems change.

What is my commitment?
The program includes seven sessions over a calendar year. All sessions will be held in the participating community and each participant is asked to commit to attending all seven trainings.

What is the cost?
Blandin Foundation covers the cost of tuition, meals and training. The cost to participants is their time and travel to and from each session. If attendance at the program creates a financial hardship, enabling funds are available.

How do I apply?
Visit ledc.blandinfoundation.org, click on the LEDC St. Peter event under Current and Upcoming LEDC Training and complete the online application. Or complete and return the paper version included in this brochure.

Application deadline is July 15, 2019.
